Family Preparedness Plan

Introduction

The U.S. Constitution guarantees basic rights to all people. Everyone in the United States has rights regardless of their immigration status.

The First Amendment guarantees the right to free speech and peaceful assembly.

The Fourth Amendment establishes the right to privacy and limits the power of authorities to interfere in people's personal lives without justified cause. This means that authorities cannot enter your home unless they have a judicial warrant.

The Fifth Amendment guarantees your right to remain silent.

Under the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments, you are also entitled to equal protection under the law and due process.

It is important to have an emergency plan in case you are arrested. Here are some recommendations. Remember that the information provided here is for general informational purposes only. No information contained herein should be construed as legal advice, nor is it intended to be a substitute for legal advice on any subject. If you have questions about your case, consult an attorney.

Family Preparedness Plan

Planning ahead can prevent many problems if you are detained or deported. This guide provides practical ideas to protect your children. It is not legal advice.

1. Gather your children's documents.

Include birth certificate, passport, consular ID, school or state ID, medical history, and vaccination record, etc.

2. Consider dual citizenship.

If your children were born in the U.S. and your country allows dual nationality, check with your consulate about how to obtain their passport.

3. Keep everything in a safe place.

Store important documents such as property titles, mortgage, bank accounts, insurance, taxes, car titles, and powers of attorney.

4. Update emergency contacts at your children's school.

Include a trusted person who can pick up your children if you cannot.

5. Designate a trusted person.

Choose someone responsible (a resident or citizen) who can care for your children if you are unavailable and who agrees to follow your instructions.

6. Prepare a notarized letter of authorization.

This document temporarily authorizes that person to care for your children, pick them up from school, or make medical decisions. It does not replace parental custody and is valid for up to one year.

Remember:

Being undocumented or in deportation proceedings does not take away your custody rights over your children.

7. Keep important contacts handy.

Include names and phone numbers of relatives or friends both in the U.S. and your home country.

8. Talk to your children (if appropriate).

Explain simply what would happen if you were absent and who would care for them. Talking to them in a calm manner may help them feel more secure.

IF AN OFFICER DETAINES YOU

ASK IF YOU ARE FREE TO LEAVE.

If officers say yes, walk away calmly.

Otherwise, ask why you are being detained.

YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO REMAIN SILENT.

You may say: "I wish to remain silent."

You can refuse to sign any documents.

Tell officers that you want to speak with an attorney.

Under Illinois law, police may stop and require you to identify yourself only if:

- They are in a public place,
- They identify themselves as police, and
- They reasonably suspect you are involved in a crime.

If detained by ICE or federal agents, you are not required to answer any questions.

- Carry valid immigration documents (if you have them), such as a green card or work permit.
- If you have no legal status, carry copies of documents that show you've lived in the U.S. for the last two years (driver's license, work/school/medical records, lease, mortgage, or mail received at your home).
- These can help prevent expedited removal and preserve your right to a court hearing if arrested by ICE.

DO NOT CARRY FAKE DOCUMENTS.

DO NOT LIE.

Never claim to be a U.S. citizen if you are not.

DO NOT ANSWER QUESTIONS ABOUT YOUR IMMIGRATION STATUS. Only discuss this with your lawyer.

WHEN ICE COMES TO YOUR HOME

Talk to your family and review this plan together. Children should not open the door.

At the end of this plan, you will find two posters that can be used in case that an officer comes to your door. Post the first one near your door as a reminder of your rights.

If ICE agents knock, slide the second poster under the door or show it through a closed window. This is a “notice” and it demands a judicial warrant for entry.

Do not open the door.

If they show a warrant, check carefully that is signed by a judge. If you are not sure if it's a valid warrant, do not open the door.

Only a judicial warrant signed by a judge allows entry. ICE usually carries administrative warrants, which do not authorize entry unless you open the door.

DO NOT OPEN THE DOOR.

ADMINISTRATIVE WARRANT

- Only signed by an immigration officer.
- Not signed by a judge.
- Does not grant ICE the right to enter your home.
